

GODZILLA VS. THE GAS MONSTER

Tempe, AZ- May 13, 2006- Rinky Inc., one of the pioneer Japan Shopping Services, today announced the expansion of their Car Parts Division.

In an effort to help customers around the globe do battle against rising gasoline prices, Rinky President Heather Russell, stated that “the best way to save money on gas is to keep your car in tune and in shape. We decided that the way to help the International community save money was for Rinky to increase our warehouse space in Tokyo to accommodate more car parts. While we have always catered to the car aficionado, Rinky can now provide greater access for hard-to-find Japanese Car Parts on-line because we have the additional space.”

The most sought after car parts include anything for Honda, Mazda, Toyota, Nissan, and Subaru. The discerning buyer can choose to buy stock parts or aftermarket. The top ten most wanted car parts are rims, steering wheels, tail lights and headlights, suspensions, gauges, timing belts, intercoolers/radiators, computers, turbines/turbo boosters, and mufflers.

Rinky does have strict rules regarding size and weight of car parts. For example, they will not ship cars, engines, bumpers, car seats, and other large items so it is important to read their car parts regulations and ask questions beforehand.

Many years ago Godzilla beat the Smog Monster. Today he will help Rinky battle the Gas Monster.
