

Rinkyia Announces the Shop Hard and Save Sale

Tempe, AZ and Tokyo, Japan- November 1,2008. "If we make it through December we'll be fine." A lot of people this year are going to be agreeing with Merle Haggard. It's been a number of years since the economy has cast this dark a shadow over the holiday season.

"At Rinkyia, because we all face the same challenges everyone else is facing in these times," says Rinkyia CEO, Heather Russell, " we found the way we can help everyone 'make it through December.'

"Do you have a favorite store on the Japanese internet? Perhaps there is a seller on Yahoo Japan that you make it a practice to search? If that's the case, then Rinkyia has a surprise for you. Beginning November first, for the holiday season, you can really shop hard. Rinkyia will only charge you one handling fee for each same seller, same day won auctions. Whether you buy one item or take care of your entire holiday list from your favorite seller, it's just one handling fee for paying the seller, bank fees, taxes and shipping within Japan.

"We believe that a healthy holiday season, businesswise, is going to make a lot of difference, across the whole world. We feel we should do our part to make that a reality. We need you to get out there and shop, the whole worlds needs that now. The world can shop itself out of the current economic problems. The politicians aren't going to be much help, and neither is big business. Some people were born to shop, and that's the talent that's going to make it all work again.

"So if you're one of those people with a talent for shopping, it's time to step up and save the world. Time to roll up your sleeves, sit down at the keyboard and shop hard.

"Rinkyia is here to make that easier, more affordable. Together we can make it work, we can bail out the whole wide world, if we're good enough, if we can get down to work, apply ourselves and shop hard enough, the economic woes will vanish. Buy that set of ADVAN racing wheels, pick-up a dozen Occupied Japan collectibles, spend the holidays building a Tokyo Drift, and save the world. Only you can do it, only you have the talent, so it's your duty.

"Shoppers can save the world. Rinkyia can help."
